Many museums need to accommodate both large and small objects, specimens, and special items. With our specialized team of museum space planners, we can design and install specialized high-density shelving, custom encasing cabinets, and even temperature-controlled environments for any historic object in your collection.

“We have a significantly improved collections care and storage facility that is much better for staff to work in, much better for the artifacts, and that will enable us to do more and better work.”
